Humans first appeared on Earth around 200,000 years ago. They belong to the species Homo sapiens. Humans are a type of animal, but they sometimes do special things. They can make tools, and they can also make art. Paintings found on walls deep inside caves show us how humans captured their world in art.